Let's be honest, life can be tough for young people these days. Wherever you live, it can be hard to find a good job. One thing that helps is having computer skills, especially if you know how to write computers' own languages.

In the modern world this has become a new trend, mainly because it is a very useful and practical skill. Nowadays, classes have been set up for young people in many countries, where they can learn to write different programmes.

Experts run these classes teaching young people how to build websites and games. The only condition is that students are expected to pass on their knowledge and skills to others. The organiser of these classes said “You learn more when you're learning together with different people. If you want to get on in this world of computers then you have to be familiar with its language. Computers have their own language and the best programmers are like poets who can use it to produce beautiful work.”
